SAFE, PROTECTED AND GUARANTEED INVESTMENTS IN AN UNCERTAIN MARKET

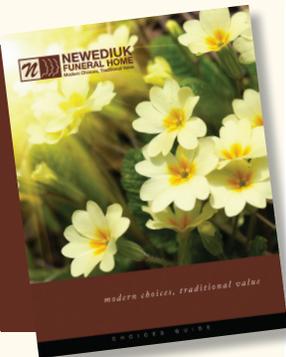

Investing in stable, guaranteed, and tax-saving investment products is always a formula for financial security in the future. Giving your family the peace of mind that comes from making a solid financial plan is equally as important. These are the benefits of investing in a pre-paid funeral fund.

Alex Lucas, Assistant Vice President of Product Development and Marketing at Manulife Bank, one of the largest providers of GIC's for pre-paid funeral funds, says "Pre-paying a funeral helps to ensure your loved ones don't have to worry about these expenses during an already difficult time. The money you set aside is shielded from market volatility and this program may even simplify your estate plan. This is why it is worth investigating despite a slow economy," he advises.

In Ontario, pre-paying for your funeral and signing a pre-paid contract with a licensed funeral establishment, guarantees the price of your funeral. The cost remains fixed at the amount you agreed to when you signed your contract. When entering a pre-paid agreement, your pre-payment earns interest which in turn offsets the rate of inflation. The interest earned is tax free for a funeral service amount of up to $15,000 or $20,000 for cemetery property. The investment is also highly liquid, as funds can be transferred or cancelled with your written request.

MINIMIZING MORTGAGE COSTS

Increase your payment amount

It may take some adjusting to work into your budget, but increasing your monthly payment amount can save you thousands of dollars in interest over the duration of your mortgage and reduce the life of your mortgage for several years. For example, suppose you have a 5- year fixed mortgage of $250,000, your monthly payment is $1,104.04 and you increase it to $1,200.00, you will save about $ 21,128.95 in interest and own your home 4 years earlier.*

Increase the frequency of your payments

While the most common payment plan is monthly, try making smaller payments more frequently. You could reduce the interest you pay and your principal more quickly. For example, if you broke your monthly payment of $1,200.00 into accelerated bi-weekly payments of $600, you would own your home approximately 4.5 years earlier.*

Pay more when you can

If you chose a mortgage that lets you make contributions outside your regular payment date, taking advantage of it whenever you can offers considerable savings. Your contribution goes directly into towards your outstanding principal so your mortgage is immediately reduced by the full amount. Taking full advantage of opportunities to reduce your principal really maximizes a payment and is an effective way to reduce your mortgage. Consider reworking your budget to set aside funds for additional payments.

* For illustration purposes only. Payment option scenarios assume a 5 year closed, fixed mortgage with a 30 year amortization. Actual rates will vary, which will affect your payment amount, your mortgage payout and the amount you could save.

TAX TIPS FOR SENIORS

For many Canadians over 65 years of age, the tax season can seem overwhelming. It doesn't have to be, however. Cleo Hamel, a senior tax analyst at H&R Block Canada, offers tips for seniors who want to get the most from their 2011 tax return.

Pension Income Splitting

Canadian residents can split up to half of their eligible pension income with their spouse or common-law partner. Income splitting allows some seniors to receive a substantial tax reduction. Tax software packages like H&R Block At Home will automatically determine the best income split to get the most tax savings.

Benefit from Your Benefits

Seniors who receive Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) through Old Age Security should file on time to ensure their benefits continue without interruption.

Split your CPP and Save

You may be able to split part of your CPP retirement benefits with your spouse depending on how long you have lived together when you were contributing to the plan. This is an advantage if one senior is in a higher tax bracket than the other.

Remember though, you must apply to Human Resources & Social Development Canada using Form ISP-1002. It can't be done on your tax return.

Funeral establishments in Ontario are required, by law, to deposit any pre-paid funds received into trust. The funding is very closely regulated for the protection and safety of your investment. The funds may only be deposited into an interest producing account, used to purchase a Guaranteed Investment Certificate (GIC), or purchase an Insurance Policy or Annuity.

“All these different products that are used to fund pre-arrangements are safe, fully guaranteed, regulated by the Provincial government and monitored by the Board of Funeral Services,” says Michael Newediuk of Newediuk Funeral Home in Toronto.

The money
you set aside is shielded from market volatility

“Pre-paid funds are deposited specifically in your name and are protected and guaranteed by Government backed organizations such as CDIC (federal) or DICO (provincial) or an insurance industry funded organization known as Assuris,” says Newediuk.

Ontarians are increasingly realizing the value of pre-arranging their final wishes. In 2010, of the 88,868 people who died in Ontario, about 24 per cent* of their commemorative services were pre-paid; a trend that is increasing every year.

Even with a slow economic environment, pre-paying for one’s funeral defies the current advice to be reluctant about new investments.

The stability of the investment, the consistent rate of return, the tax savings and the fixed funeral costs all make it an investment worthy of consideration.

Newediuk Funeral Home offers your family all of the modern amenities you want together with the timeless values of trust, caring service and commitment to the community.
